Four Are Killed In Plane Crash In Delaware

NEWCASTLE, Del., Sept. 7.—(INS)—Local and federal officials today investigated the crash of a monoplane which killed four persons in a corn field three miles south of Newcastle.

Newcastle County Coroner William Smith, Jr., withheld names of the dead, whose bodies were removed from the wreckage last night.

Smith said, however, that the craft bore the serial number of a plane missing since Saturday on a flight from Salisbury, Md., to Teterboro, N. J.

The plane was piloted by B. J. Holloman, of Jacksonville, N. C. He reportedly had picked up three Marines, but their names did not show on a report flight given to Salisbury airport authorities.

Coroner Smith said three of the bodies were clad in uniforms and one was in civilian clothes. Identities were withheld, he explained, pending notification of next of kin.

U.N. Pilots Pound Enemy In Korea; Many Tanks Hit

TOKYO, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Good weather—the kind that permitted a record number of air sorties over Korea Wednesday—aided United Nations pilots again today in their pounding of enemy targets.

Allied air force fighters and bombers flew a record 625 sorties yesterday. Far East air forces headquarters said this was the "highest number flown since the Korean war began."

More than half of them, an air communique reported, were: close support flights along the battle line and in hard pressed areas." Wednesday's aerial strikes constituted the "heaviest tactical air assault staged thus far in 72 consecutive days" of air action in Korea.

Forty Tanks Damaged

President To Talk To Nation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—(INS)—President Truman announced today that he will explain his entire economic control program in a fireside chat to the nation Saturday night.

He told a news conference that that address will be broadcast over all four major networks.

The President flatly denied reports that he has any intention of setting up a control agency under military direction. Such controls as are put into effect, will be under civilian management.

He declared flatly that there will be no military dictator.

Asked about reports that Chairman Symington of the National Security Resources Board will head up a giant mobilization agency, the President replied that this was the first he had heard of that.

He also said he has no intention at the present time of creating an economic stabilization agency to stabilize prices and wages.

Truman Makes Surprise Visit Before Marines

Appears Before Marine Veterans Sessions Today

By GEORGE MOISE
(I. N. S. Special Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—President Truman made a surprise personal appearance before marine veterans today to amplify his apology for saying the marine corps has a Stalin-type propaganda machine.

The Chief Executive told nearly 1,000 cheering, applauding delegates to the annual convention of the Marine Corps League that he hoped "there never will be any misunderstandings again."

Mr. Truman added:

"When I make mistakes I try to correct them. And I try to make as few mistakes as possible."

Surprise Appearance

The President's surprise appearance before the marine veterans followed his letter to Gen. Clifton B. Cates, commandant of the marine corps, expressing "regret" for his "unfortunate choice of language" in referring to the marines as the navy's police force with 'a propaganda machine that is almost equal to Stalin's."

Mr. Truman told the convention that in this election year there are many 'unfounded, unfair, unjust" political attacks on men in government all of which, he said, are directly aimed at the President of the United States.

The Chief Executive appealed to the marine organization to support him in his efforts to secure peace in the world.

At the conclusion of Mr. Truman's brief remarks, the leatherneck veterans stood and sang the marine anthem—"The Halls of Montezuma." The delegates greeted their commander-in-chief with a rousing ovation when he appeared before the convention.

With a broad grin, Mr. Truman told them:

"I am happy to be with you. You succeeded in enticing me over here.

Taegu Makes Preparations For Defense

Another Effort For Pusan Drive Is Also Indicated

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN.
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Sept. 7.—Communist troops captured the key junction of Yongchon late today to smash within 19 miles east of Taegu, already under direct pressure from Red divisions six miles north and eight miles southwest of the Korean fortress city.

Taegu, northwest cornerstone of the United Nations beachhead in Korea, was threatened by two North Korean divisions whose advance units were poised in mountain ridges six miles above the city.

Seizure Reported

The Red seizure of Yongchon, eastern gateway to pivotal Taegu, was reported at 10:42 Thursday night (8:42 a. m. EDT) in a dispatch by International News Service War Correspondent Irving Levine.

The message, filed direct from gravely imperilled Taegu, said that Yongchon, a seven-way rail and highway hub, fell late Thursday afternoon.

The dispatch added, however, that South Korean forces thrown out of Yongchon were preparing to counter-attack Thursday night and may be strong enough to retake the city.

Levine reported that North Korean 13th Division troops were astride the "bowling alley" road north of Taegu and had thrust flanking spearheads to within a half dozen miles above the anchor base.

Northeast of Taegu, two regiments of the enemy's elite First Division were wedged between the U. S. First Cavalry Divisions right (east) flank and the South Korean First Division's left (west) wing.

40,000-strong Marine Corps League which is in convention in Washington, said the Chief Executive's letter is a "retraction, an attempt to undo what has been done."

Nixon emphasized, however, that he considers the incident "a closed issue."

President Was Disturbed

President Truman explained to Cates that the letter which originally started the tempest was written because the Chief Executive was "disturbed" by the pressure being exerted to gain Marine Corps representation on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

That letter was written to Rep. McDonough (R) Calif., who had asked Mr. Truman why the devil dogs had not been given more influence in the Pentagon.

The President said in his letter of "regret" that this drive is "inspired by individuals who may not be aware of the best interests of our defense establishment."

Mr. Truman said he "is certain that the Marine Corps itself" does not engage in propaganda, and explained that when he called the devil dogs a "Navy police force" he meant their "immediate readiness."

Nixon, who on Tuesday accused Mr. Truman of "vilifying" the Marines, read the President's letter to the convention.

Roar Approval

The delegates asked Nixon to re-read the first paragraph of Mr. Truman's letter and when Nixon emphasized the words "I sincerely regret the unfortunate choice of language," the men roared their approval.

The President praised the Marine Corps record and said he receives daily reports of their exploits in Korea.

The Chief Executive asserted:

"The country may feel sure that the record of the Marines now fighting there will add new laurels to the already illustrious record of the Marine Corps."

The President pointed out that the matter of Marine Corps representation on the Joint Chiefs of Staff was debated twice by Congress, first in passing the National Security Act of 1947 and again in amending that act in 1949.

The Chief Executive pointed out:

"The Congress considered the question of Marine Corps representation and did not provide for it."

day morning along Taegu's northern and southwestern approaches. At the same time other U. S. and South Korean units turned back a Red advance on Taegu's flank from a southeasterly direction.

But the Reds swung around the Allied north wing in the eastern sector to smash west along a secondary valley road and drive into Yongchon, 19 miles east-northeast of Taegu.

A Pyong broadcast claiming Taegu already have fallen was denied by American headquarters officials in Tokyo. And it was subsequently belied by receipt of an International News Service front dispatch directly from Taegu at 8:09 Thursday night (6:09 a. m. EDT).

However, Taegu was prepared for a street-to-street defense against a possible Red siege.

Retake Lost Ground

Along the south wing of the errupting Korean battle rectangle, other American troops repulsed two fresh Red onslaughts Thursday, retaking ground lost to one of the attacks.

But the war's heaviest enemy artillery barrages in the south and the movement of Red reinforcements into that sector presaged possible renewal of the big push toward the Allied entry port of Pusan from the west.

Within the lower Naktong river bend U. S. marine and army troops whittled another 500 yards off a shrinking Red bridgehead bulge at one time closely threatened the main 55-mile Pusan-Taegu rail and highway life line east of the river.

Through Thursday the Korean skies were crowded with hundreds of Allied planes which seared, blasted and riddled units of the North Korean 140,000-man invasion army. On Wednesday the Allied airmen were credited with knocking out nearly half of 84 new tanks thrown into action by the Reds.

NEW CASTLE HOSPITAL NURSES GRADUATED

Trinity church, Duquesne, Pa., gave the principal address of the evening.

Father Must in a most inspiring manner stated that while living in a day when a rationalistic philosophy prevails that is so false, the nurse has been taught a true philosophy and applies that in her daily life and daily care to the patient, that of appreciation of the value of a human life and a soul made to the image and likeness of God. He also emphasized that today, the nurse in a day where the ideas of fatalism, prevail the nurse realizes that she has something to live for, the great responsibility of the care of God's sick and poor and the salvation of their own immortal soul.

the way back into the North Korean home-land. The major B-29 assault was on the Pyongyang railroad yards, where 150 tons of bombs were dropped with the aid of radar.

Another sortie record was set by the little T-6 "Spotter" planes. These small craft, which sight targets for fighter planes, flew 54 missions during the day.

Near Pohang

A large part of the close support operations was in the Pohang area on the east end of the defense line. First Lt. Frank S. Hagan of Baton Rouge, La., reported his B-46 group "poured 6,800 rounds of ammunition into enemy troops and tanks" near Pohang.

Marine Corsair pilots shifted their attention from close support to bombing of supply lines along the west coast of Korea. Damage listed there included a highway bridge at Taechon, three warehouses at Kimpo, and blasting of a railroad tunnel entrance to Tosongni, west of Kaesong near the 38th parallel boundary.

TRUMAN MAKES SURPRISE VISIT BEFORE MARINES

There are incidents sometimes that appear to be the end of the world but they usually turn out all right."

Seeks Unified Approach

The President said that the thing he was most interested in "is a unified approach to the crisis we face." He added:

"My whole endeavor for the past five years has been directed toward a peaceful settlement of the greatest war in history. That effort appeared to be approaching its consummation until June 25."

Referring to the Communist invasion of South Korea, the President said the United States then had to support the United Nations peace efforts or back down and surrender. He said bluntly that the later course was not his way of doing things.

Clay Nixon, commandant of the Marine Corps League, informed the convention delegates of Mr. Truman's visit in advance. In typical blunt leatherneck language, Nixon shouted:

"I'll expect you to conduct yourselves as marines and Americans. No wisecracks will be tolerated. There is no place for levity in a country at war. The matter we discussed yesterday is at an end."

Cates was introduced first to the convention and he presented Mr. Truman with these words:

"We are greatly honored to have the President of the United States with us today. We of the marines and the people of the United States admire courage — especially personal courage. Ladies and gentlemen, the President of the United States.

MISS SHIRLEY BURKE WEDS ELMER SUBER

Charming simplicity marked the ceremony which united the lives of Miss Shirley Y. Burke and Elmer J. Suber on Monday, September 4.

Wedding vows were pledged by the young couple in St. Mary's church at 9 a.m., with Rev. Fr. Francis King officiating at the single ring service. The nuptial high mass was performed, with appropriate selections played and sung by the church organist.

Miss Burke is the daughter of Darrell Burke of 319 North Jefferson street, and Mrs. Frances Burke, New Castle. Mr. Suber is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil F. Suber, West Lincoln avenue.

White gladioli and branches candelabra decorated the altar for the ceremony. The bride was attractive in a shell pink sheer wool street length dress. The fitted bodice was enhanced by a high neckline and three-quarter sleeves. A full skirt swirled away from a tiny waistline. Brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of white orchids completed the ensemble. She wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Miss Miriam Burke attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore with charm a brown crepe street length dress. A bustle added back interest to the full skirt, and she wore beige accessories. A purple orchid made up her shoulder corsage.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at The Castleton hotel following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Suber departed for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls, Toronto, and Montreal, Canada. Upon their return they will reside at the Penn apartments, Neshannock avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Suber are graduates of the New Castle Senior High school. The bride is employed as an operator at the Bell Telephone Co., and the groom, a member of the Marine Corps reserve, is employed at the New Castle Duntile Co.

LOCAL NEWLYWEDS TAKE UP RESIDENCE

Upon returning from a week's trip to Canada and other points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Dandy C. Iozzi, nee Dolores Francis, are at home to their many friends at 1504 Huron avenue.

Ferns, gladioli and lighted candelabra provided an attractive background in St. Vitus church for the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Dolores Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Francis of 513 Friendship street and Dandy C. Iozzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Iozzi of Huron avenue, on Saturday, August 26.

The sheer off the shoulder neckline was enhanced by a nylon tulle drape and sheer marquisette yoke, accented with seed pearls. The full, gathered skirt fell into a long cathedral train. Her fine illusion fingertip veil was caught in a cloche cap of matching Chantilly lace, daintily edged with tiny seed pearls. She carried a handkerchief which had been carried by her mother at her wedding, and also wore a sixpence in her shoe. The strand of pearls she wore was a gift from the bride's father, and she carried a crescent bouquet of white baby mums, surrounding a white orchid, pompons and streamers of stephanotis.

GOVERNMENT DISPERSAL

Dispersal of potential targets offers one method of minimizing the effects of an atomic attack on a metropolitan community. That is why some members of Congress have been demanding that the government machiney at Washington be spread out over a larger area. They say that a few well-placed atomic bombs might leave the nation helpless.

President Truman has asked Congress for $139,000,000 to begin a long-range dispersal program. This sum would initiate a plan "to insure the continuity of essential functions of government in event of emergency." So says a White House announcement.

The announcement also said that the program "stems from a joint study made by various government agencies, including the General Sevices Administration, the National Security Resources Board, the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and the Bureau of the Budget."

That sounds as though the problem has been given thorough consideration and the solution agreed upon is the best possible in the eyes of the planners.

Will the solution satisfy Congress? It is certainly not a radical one, to judge from this first installment. The money asked for would build office facilities for from 35,000 to 40,000 federal employees, at four suburban sites within commuting distance of Washington.

These sites would be close enough to the city so that their use would not cause a "widespread dislocation of federal employees and their families." The jobholders would commute daily.

The decentralization thus called for would hardly be drastic. Whether it would serve the purpose in view is open to some doubt. It is explained that it would permit the demolition of some "temporary" buildings along the mall. And, of course, the program would not preclude removal of government departments to other cities in case of need. But Congress should look it over to make sure it is good enough.

WAR COMFORTS

Americans take their standard of living with them wherever they go, even to the fighting fronts. The American soldier carries with him more gadgets, better food and clothing than any other combat man.

Just now the government is engaged in buying 30,000,000 packages of new rations for the forces in Korea and those in training in this country. Their contents are a great improvement over the K and C rations of World War II.

A typical ration, designed to feed five men one day, comes in a packet of 27 pounds and includes bacon, beef and gravy, ham, beef roast, pork sausage links, numeorus vegetables and several kinds of fruits. There are candies and chewing gum as well as cigarettes.

Another type, designed for men engaged in an attack where they must travel light, has tablets which, dropped in water, make heat which warms the food. Plastic spoons to be discarded after using are included.

ACTION AT LOCAL LEVEL

Mankato, Kans., is receiving national publicity for an example it set which is being widely copied. In 1947 the people of Mankato raised money to build a home, an office and buy necessary equipment for a doctor, the town being without the services of a medico at that time. A doctor moved in and the town now has ample medical services.

Since then doctors have moved into nearly 100 other Kansas towns of from 500 to 5,000 population which adopted the Mankato plan. These doctors otherwise would have moved to cities where facilities aleady existed for them. Most young doctors haven't the means to establish themselves in an office of their own as soon as they are ready to practice.

This shows what can be done at the local level. By getting busy people can solve their problems without running to Washington.

SESSION NEARING END

Congress is nearing the end of its session—and congressmen were never more eager to get home and get on with campaigning. The terms of every member of the House and one-third the members of the Senate will be up this year, as in every even-numbered year.

Reports from Washington describe the solons as unhappy about events and worried about what the folk back home are thinking. They would like to know what frame of mind the voters are in as regards the progress of the war, as well as developments on the home front.

There is only one way to find out, of course, and that is to ask the man in the factory, on the farm and in the office. That's what congessmen are going to do when they can get away from Washington, which they hope will be soon.

There's also a pan America movement in Moscow, too. Only this one is powered with hot air.

There's a type of glass that's stonger than steel. What a boon to those who live next door to a sandlot ball diamond!

Some people never borrow trouble; others are already worrying about there being only 100 or less shopping days left until Christmas.

Census reports show that the Indian population is increasing, especially in New Mexico. The "Vanishing American," apparently is doing it with mirrors—because it ain't so!

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

New Western Germany Moves

Definite new moves to make Western Germany an asset instead of a liability in event of a military crisis seem to be in the making today.

Two factors underscore likelihood that the Western powers will drop much of their reserve about increasing German strength in every legitimate way.

One is admission by the Atlantic Pact deputies that progress has been far too slow in rearming Western Europe and that additional "sacrifices" will have to be made.

The other is the seemingly isolated incident off Korea when a star-marked hostile bomber was shot down and a member of the Soviet Air Force found among its crewmen.

Bound To Widen

This event is not actually isolated, however. It is bound to widen the breach between Soviet Russia and the United States and that, of course, is certain to aggravate the situation in Europe. The United States is pointing to the affair as proof of Soviet intervention in North Korea and there are fears that Moscow may be contemplating a new military occupation of the northern part of the peninsula.

Russia, on the other hand, has charged American fliers with provocation and aggression and the matter threatens to develop into an exceedingly grave diplomatic crisis at least.

All steps regarding Germany are being taken with utmost caution. There is no desire to give Russia any fresh opportunities to renew her charges of Allied warmongering, and there is knowledge that the people of France are far from reconciled to the necessity of a German revival in strength.

Of Great Importance

Two steps have just been taken, however, which may prove to be of great importance.

The Allied high commission has announced that henceforth Germans may be employed as ground crew members and maintenance men at airports. They will be permitted to operate all communication systems except radar and flight control.

Inasmuch as Germans are not allowed to operate any aircraft more formidable than model gliders, this may seem a small concession until it is realized that for five years they have not been allowed the least liberty or experience with regard to aircraft.

Also, the high commission has decided to allow Western Germans 25 thousand rifles and 50 thousand shotguns for hunting and sporting purposes.

This also may seem but a trickle when it is considered there are 40 to 50 million Germans in the Western zones. Yet it will allow a certain limited number to get their shooting eyes and trigger fingers back into practice.

Straws In The Wind

Both measures are at least straws in the wind.

The Atlantic Pact deputies surely were not lacking in frankness when they upbraided their own countries for not doing enough to protect themselves against possible aggression, although they did say that encouraging steps have been taken.

Purpose of the statement seems to have been twofold: To insulate Western Europeans against defeatism by convincing them that the threat of attack is entirely real and to make it clear that unlimited aid cannot be expected from the United States.

In view of the widening gulf between Washington and Moscow, it is highly likely that the administration is considering plans to increase this assistance in such a manner as not to alienate Congress or encourage the European to let up in their own efforts.

As in France, the opinion in all Nazi-defeated nations is divided on the question of strengthening Germany but there is no question anywhere of that country's importance.

It is almost paradoxical—and considerably resented in Britain—that the Germans are being allowed to produce luxury and consumers goods in great quantity which already has brought about an at least superficial prosperity while the British people are on an austerity basis in the hope of survival.

This economic factor may finally be the controlling one. In any case, Western Germany is being permitted to return slowly to a normal state, for guns and aircraft surely are characteristic of the country.

Problem The Parent

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELPING CHILD WITH HOMEWORK

Helping your child learn to read, spell, do number work or master a school assignment can be a wonderful experience for both parent and child. But it takes a most unusual parent to make this a pleasant experience. The unusualness of such a parent is not in terms of his education or native intelligence so much as in his patience, and ability to imagine himself in the child's place. Some college professors and other highly educated persons can make a child most miserable over a lesson.

Sometimes a child will ask for help with a lesson. It's usually rather easy for this parent to be calm and patient. Yet even these parents will sometimes lose their temper. If this happens often, the child stops coming to the parent for help. He would rather trust to his luck at school next day than to face more misery at home with an abusive, scolding parent.

Remedial Work

Often a parent forces his child to do some homework which has not been assigned. The parent may have learned from the teacher that this child lags in reading spelling or arithmetic, may have discovered this lag by checking on the child's skills in such subjects, or may just suppose the child ought to have some practice at home under parental supervision. In any event the child does not enjoy such lessons. He counts them as chores and even loathes them when his parent grows vexed at his blunders and mistakes.

There may be times when the parent properly requires the child seven, nine or 12, to sit down at home for a brief period to improve his skills in one or more of the basic school subjects. But force should end there. From there on the parent should aim to help this child enjoy success and, therefore, satisfaction from his learning efforts.

Most of all the parent must exercise great calmness and patience. He must not raise his voice in rebuke or even feel angry when the child pauses, blunders or forgets. My bulletins, "Parents and the Child's Homework' and the three "home helps" in reading spelling and number work, may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Self-mastery

But, alas, the average parent helping a child with his lessons soon becomes impatient, grows vexed with the youngster, shouts at him or even curses him conventionally or symbolically. On any night during the school year literally hundreds of thousands of children are being tortured over homework by parents who presume to help their children but actually hinder them. Perhaps the most violent and abusive cursing words by parents are "dumbbell" "lazy" or "you-don't-pay-attention". These words may come from a preacher, carpenter, missionary, doctor, butcher, lawyer farmer, engineer, truck driver college professor or common laborer.

When you try to help your child to learn anything from books or any skill not related to school, you are on trial. Your self-mastery and regard for your child as a person are at stake. I hope you are not found wanting. If you are, make yourself walk away from your child and his lesson the moment you feel the least vexed with him, for you are not fit then to

Folks Of Fame

William Gibbs McAdoo, American lawyer and politician, was born near Marietta, Ga., Oct. 31, 1863. He attended the University of Tennessee, but did not finish his course. He read law as a clerk in the U. S. Circuit court of Chattanooga and was admitted to the bar in 1885. He moved to New York and formed, in 1902, the New York & New Jersey Railroad company. Woodrow Wilson appointed him secretary of the treasury in 1913. When the railroads were taken over by the federal government in 1917, he was appointed director-general. He was a prominent candidate for nomination as president at the 1920 and 1924 Democratic national conventions. He died Feb. 1, 1941.

Just Folks

EVENING PERFORMANCE

Went to a show in the open air,
Sat two hours on a metal chair;
Battled mosquitoes the evening through,
Willing and happy to do it, too.
Proud! And the reason I'd have you know:
I had a grandson in the show.

High in the dark where none could see,
All in the world turned right for me.
Content was I with my present lot;
War and Russia I quite forgot.
Never once thought of the bills I owe.
I had a grandson in the show.
Pappas and mammas were all about,
Just as proud as was I, no doubt
All with a child of their own to see,
Fairy, or goblin, or king to be.
Eyes no wider than mine were though.
I had a grandson in the show.

These cool evenings and warm days are just our kind . . . it will (this kind of weather) make football seem like football . . . heavy coats, sweaters and a lap robe . . . of course by Friday evening things might be different . . . but then Fall is Fall and as they say in California . . . we do have rather unusual weather . . . however Fall is one time of year that is beautiful and especially so here in Pennsylvania . . . they talk of the wonders of the world but none compare to those colors found in the Fall on the mountain sides of our Pennsylvania.

* * *

And Fall brings mushrooms to mind . . . and a brisk walk in the country, early in the morning you will fill your chip basket with the little white fellows . . . but make sure they are eatable . . . and then the crackling of a fire in the fireplace these cool evenings makes one very comfortable.

And it's the man of the house who usually says . . . I'll do the cooking for this meal . . . what a blow that is to the "little woman" . . . but that's everyplace but at our house. We live in a small apartment that is equipped with electric range and refrigerator . . . and the neighbors radio. The range is the thing . . . fancy little gadget with tuning knobs that adjust the heat from high to medium to one quarter to a sixteenth . . . the first few weeks we were contented just to use one of the surface burners, but after reading the instruction book we find that other parts are just what the maker says they are. Broiling that steak could not be done finer than under the fancy grills of the range . . . just do what it says in the little book and man you really have something . . . We are glad that it isn't the duty of the man of the house to scrub the broiler.

Ah but people have fun . . . really they have more fun than monkeys . . . and with a little family to keep you company . . . never a dull moment . . . it is just nice to live . . . But we can't forget that there are men and women in Korea who need our support . . . and it's more than lip service.

MAKING THE HEADLINES AGAIN!

Cafe Les Deux Magots

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

PARIS, Sept. 7.—I was a bit leery about paying a visit to cafe Les Deux Hagots, having heard that it had become the intellectual heart of Paris' Left Bank, and that to get vermouth one must all but sit in the lap of Jean Paul-Satre, the high priest.

Nothing makes me more comfortable than an intellectual center.

To sit among or even be near those thinking profound thoughts causes me to break out in spots, much like those which appear on people who are allergic to tomatoes or bran muffins but who keep on eating tomatoes and bran muffins, nevertheless.

But, under the prodding of my wife, who considers me the very smartest man she is married to, I made my way across the Seine and along the Boulevard St. Germain until the lettering of the canopy of a sidewalk cafe informed me that I was at Les Deux Magots.

Resembled Freak Show Entrance

If it hadn't been for the lettering on the canopy I would have sworn that I was at the entrance to a freak show, where the admission was half a buck at least. Now, I am not one to criticize the appearance of my fellow creatures, having had mirrors around my house ever since I can remember.

I know I look odd but I try not to look any odder than I can help. Cafe Les Deux Magots habitues, however, give the appearance of making a career of looking crazy. There must have been a hundred or more men and women seated inside and outside the cafe, and a good 99 per cent of them could have taken right off for a masquerade without even parting their hair.

The two men at the table which crowded our own little knock-kneed table may have been two of the world's most original thinkers, whose opinions on art, the theatre, literature, sculpture and politics cause repercussions all the way to the Himalayas and back, but surely they didn't look the part.

One of them had on an outfit that required imagination of the very highest order. His trousers were rolled up above his knees, exposing sockless legs and a pair of cowboy boots. To complete this harmonious ensemble he wore a voluminous, plaid lumberjacket, fastened across his chest with an enormous safety pin.

This outfit didn't stand out particularly. The sockless Texan's companion wore an aloha shirt, skin-tight blue jeans, white buckskin thong slippers, all topped off by a red beret, on which was pinned all the medals and buttons he could lay his hands on. A bit more conservative than his friend, he had only one trouser leg rolled above his knee.

Only Two Examples

These are only two examples of many. And don't get the idea that the patrons of Les Deux are poor, hungry souls. Because they aren't. Most of them were having wine, beer, or coffee, and doing all right by themselves.

They all have one economy, however. That is saving by not visiting barber shops. Nine-tenths of these young intellectuals were Americans and nine-tenths of them hadn't shaved since they waved farewell to American shores days, months, or years before. It was easy to spot the new arrivals. Their beards were only an inch or so long, and a few of them shamedly wore shoes with a bit of shine still on the tips.

As most of the patrons were speaking English I was fortunate in being able to do a little eavesdropping and thus learn what the young American intellectual in Paris talks about. Quite a few of them talked about a fellow named Ralph Kiner who, I guess, is a new and sensational young poet. And they all seemed interested in when they'd be able to get the latest edition of those two smart Parisian magazines, Time and Newsweek. And not a few of them spoke with nostalgia of a cold bottle of those world famous French vintages, Schlitz and Budweiser.

Visit Intellectual Centers

After Les Deux Magots we visited other intellectual centers, including Rotonde and the Dome, and found that they all are very much alike, meaning that one must keep a tight hold on one's senses when visiting them, lest one become convinced that the world has gone zany.

Come to think of it, maybe it has.

One Man's Opinion

(By International News Service)

The proposal to move government bureau out of Washington where they would be safe from enemy bombing has been received cooly . . . Some feel the nation would bear the loss of a few bureaus rather bravely.

All I know is that the section of the internal revenue department where they send out the income tax forms is no shrine of the American people.

What we might do, instead of spending 300 million dollars to more departments for fear the Russians would liquidate them, is adopt the Hoover commission report and liquidate them ourselves . . . It would be cheaper.

The plan proposed moving some departments 50 miles out of Washington . . . The theory was that an enemy arriving over Washington would be so charmed with the place he wouldn't travel an extra 50 miles.

But if they do put up new buildings they should be designed so as to be inconspicuous . . . Like the Pentagon.

The Pentagon was the one they built with a pocket in the middle so even a bombardier with poor eyesight couldn't miss.

TOKYO—Vice Admiral C. T. Joy, commander of the U. S. navy in the far east: "I hope the question as to whether the carrier is necessary is settled. The sea is the navy's sea and without carriers we couldn't have won the last war. Or any future war in the Pacific."

Washington Calling

Alaska-Hawaii Statehood?

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Anyone who has ever watched a herd of cattle trying each one to push through the same gate can get an idea of the atmosphere in Congress in these closing days. Yippee, the stampede is on!

It's all quite understandable. Back home in a great many instances the opposition has long been out on the hustings. And if the senator or the congressman flies back for a two or three-day shot of campaigning, the opposition demands in ringing public tones to know why the representative of the umpteenth district is not in Washington doing his duty by the confused and unhappy yet God-fearing and hard-working people of the umpteenth.

Some Unhappy Consequences

But while it is understandable, it is likely to have some pretty unhappy consequences. In the words of the prayer book, those things are done which ought not to be done and those things are left undone, which ought not to be left undone.

An example in each category comes to mind at once. The House has passed bills granting statehood to both Alaska and Hawaii. But apparently the Senate will not act before the recess.

Several times President Truman has nudged Majority Leader Scott Lucas on Alaska and Hawaii. Lucas replies that to bring up the statehood bills will be to invite a filibuster by Southern Democrats who don't want four more members added to the club, especially since one or two of them might be Eurasians.

But others who have canvassed the Senate disagree. They believe the votes are readily available to pass both bills and they doubt if the whole business would take more than a day of the Senate's time. The President said at his press conference that adequate defense for the two territories cannot be assured unless they achieve statehood.

Unpleasant Rumors

Meanwhile, unpleasant rumors are circulating about the way in which powerful Alaskan interests have worked to block approval of statehood. From Alaska comes the report that canners with operations there have raised $150,000 to use in a last-minute blocking effort. This is said to have been distributed judiciously with special reference to the campaign funds of senators up for re-election.

Action on Alaska and Hawaii in the closing days could not be considered hasty. In the past three or four years a half dozen committees of Congress have gone to Alaska and Hawaii to make on-the-spot studies. Two or three sets of lengthy hearings have been held with witnesses pro and con heard for pages and pages on the record. If this Congress leaves without acting, then much of this will have to be done over again, including hearings and passage by the House.

In the category of steps taken in haste that may be regretted in a later and calmer mood is the anti-subversives bill. There are urgent measures to be taken to strengthen laws against espionage and subversion. They should have been taken months ago.

Danger Is Seen

But the danger is that the Senate will pass the bill now before it, containing everything but the kitchen sink. That bill would put such a heavy burden on the FBI of supervising the registration of all Communists and many fellow-travelers that, according to Attorney General McGrath, the really dangerous agents schooled in espionage might escape.

Of course, it also gives to a subversives control board power to determine, under broad and loose definition, who is a fellow-traveler. In other words, it would tend to give this board a power over the thoughts of free Americans. That always has been abhorrent in a country where honest dissenters (as distinguished from Communists who are part of a foreign conspiracy) have had the right to express themselves. It raises, too, a constitutional question and the possibility of a challenge in the courts that could for a considerable period delay the operation of the law.

In this last-minute jam there is always a lot of politics. If the Congress should send to the White House an unconstitutional anti-subversives bill, which is perhaps also unworkable, it would be a political hot potato. A presidential veto probably would be used by Republicans who have been accusing the administration of being "soft" to communism.

But the veto of an all-or-nothing bill would also mean that essential steps to tighten espionage laws would not be taken. And that happens to be directly related to the security of this country.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Hardly a day passes without my mail bringing me letters about Communism.

Apparently comparatively few people know the real meaning of Communism, so they ask me to explain it all to them in the short space of a daily newspaper column.

Hundreds of volumes and thousands of articles have been written on the subject, so it is impossible to put it all into the space of a few hundred words.

But I want to answer two of the most frequently asked questions today.

1) What is the underlying cause of Communism?

2) What is the practical cure for Communism?

I shall answer these two questions with two practical examples.

What causes Communism?

Before me is a news dispatch from Deauville, France. (Deauville is France's most fashionable, most expensive and most dissolute summer resort.)

"Egypt's King Farouk arrived here tonight for a 10-day visit after a trip from Marseille. Two bodyguards shoved their way through the crowd to make a path for the husky monarch. A dozen photographers took pictures of his arrival at the Hotel DuGolf where he has reserved a suite of 25 rooms."

Yes, you read it correctly. Twenty-five rooms!

"Farouk arrived in Marseille aboard his private yacht Tuesday evening . . . Farouk's journey through France coincided with the information that Narriman Sadek, often reported as tentative choice for queen, had left her hotel in Switzerland. Deauville was buzzing with rumors that Miss Sadek was coming here to join Farouk."

These are random quotes—and his now-supposed-to-be next wife is said to be on the way to join the king. But here is another suote:

"At least two former favorite women companions of the king have been recognized here." (Do you get the idea?)

The same dispatch also reports that at the same hotel the Aga Kahan and his begum are getting along with five rooms and that Mr. Rita Hayworth (also known as the Aly Khan), are living in the same villa where they stayed last year.

I think here you have a partial answer to the question "What causes Communism?"

Now to the other one—What is a practical cure for Communism?

Let me refer to another news dispatch. It is headed "GEORGIA'S NO. 1 RED GIVEN BLOODY BEATING."

It is about Homer Bates Chase, chairman of the Communist party in Georgia, who was recently convicted of contempt of court.

The dispatch is from the little town of Carrollton:

"After three men worked him over with their fists, he wiped the blood from his face and drove away. Chase could not be located for comment."

Does that answer the second question?

Raise Nelson's Bail To $100,000

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Judge Michael A. Musmanno succeeded today in having the bail for Steve Nelson, Pittsburgh communist accused of sedition, upped from $10,000 to $100,000.

Judges Thomas M. Marshall and Henry Ellenbogen granted Musmanno's request for increased bond after an impassioned plea by the jurist to keep Nelson "in jail".

Bond for two other accused Reds, Andrew Onda, Communist party organizer in the steel industry, and James Dolsen, Daily Worker correspondent, remained at $10,000.

Meanwhile, a hearing is expected to take place today on habeas corpus writs obtained yesterday by Hymen Schlesinger, attorney for the three men. All three were jailed last week on sedition charges brought by Musmanno, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

Expect 229th To Leave Next Week

Sometime early next week it is anticipated the 229th field artillery battalion will leave New Castle for Camp Atterbury, Ind. A report early today said the leaving time will be between Sunday and next Wednesday, but a check with Captain Walter Gilliland, adjutant of the battalion, revealed the fact that no definite orders have been received here yet.

Moving a division of troops from all over Pennsylvania calls for a rather complicated time-table and schedules are now being worked out. Orders are expected here within the next 48 hours.

Report Made To Acheson By Spofford

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson received today a first-hand report of European opinion on a unified anti-Communist military force.

The secretary conferred with Charles M. Spofford, U.S. member and chairman of the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers' Deputies, who made a special flight back from London.

In advance of Spofford's arrival, Acheson already had committed himself to two things—rearmament of Western Germany in some fashion, and organization of an overall, fully-equipped European army within the coming year.

The talk with Spofford was only one of many Acheson scheduled in a grueling series leading up to his departure this weekend for New York and meetings of the Big Three foreign ministers and the North Atlantic Council.

Twelve year old Donald both puzzled and worried his parents. Instead of being interested in the things that most youngsters enjoyed, he spent all his time collecting insects, performing chemistry experiments and reading science textbooks. This was particularly hard for his father to accept since his primary interests were baseball and miniature auto-racing.

For quite a while there was an atmosphere of conflict and tension. Then Mr. Wasson decided on a new tack. One Saturday morning he suggested to Don that they visit the science museum in a nearby city and then go to the auto races late in the afternoon. For the sake of the museum trip the boy was willing to go to the auto races.

After a few similar experiences an entirely different relationship betwen father and son developed. Mr. Wasson began to gain some real appreciation of his boy's interests. Now and again, instead of following the old pattern of trying to push Don out of his home-made laboratory, he would bring home equipment of materials he knew his son wanted.

Don, too, though grudgingly at first, began to show some liking for his father's interests. Before long, he began to make complicated charts of baseball statistics and knew more about the accomplishments of individual players than anyone else in the neighborhood, and this mutual respect between father and son made the home atmosphere a much more comfortable one.

David Gatrall Heads Kiwanis

Elected Wednesday: Club Hears Labor Man

New Castle Kiwanis Club had a double-barrelled program Wednesday noon, in The Castleton In addition to electing officers for the coming year, when they chose David Gatrall as president, the club heard an interesting address on labor and its program from John W. Grajciar, of Sharon, an official of the United Steel Workers Union.

Mr. Grajciar stated that union's demands during the past decade have resulted in benefits for a great number of people. He cited the recent increase for beneficiaries of Social Security, which he stated were brought about by Labor's demands for adequate pensions, company financed. Average payments to beneficiaries until the president signed the bill increasing these amounts, only averaged $26 per month. People cannot live on such amounts he stated.

Labor To Ask More

The people who fought against pension increases for labor were the professional, business, and industrial groups, he stated.

The people of the United States are going to hear a lot more about labor's demands in the next year, he predicted. Our people are not dumb. They can read the papers and listen over the radio, he stated, and they know what is going on. As soon as the war came on, prices immediately sky-rocketed. There was absolutely no excuse for it, except that somebody had the opportunity to make a lot of money. "You are going to see the biggest profits in the history of industry this year," Mr. Grajciar stated. "When our people see these things, they feel they should have their share, too."

"When prices increase, our people are able to buy less, just the same as everyone else," he said in conclusion. Mr. Grajciar gave his audience an opportunity to ask questions when he had concluded his talk, and an interesting discussion period followed.

Other Officers

The program was afrranged by the club in connection with the observance of national labor week by Kiwanis.

In the election of officers, in addition to president Gatrall, others elected, were:

Vice presidents, Russell Forney and Kenneth McLure; treasurer, Robert L. Meermans; directors, Peter Grittie, Kenneth Hemer, and John R. Hodge; delegate to convention, John A. McGrath; alternates, Rev. James A. Gaiser, H. Lee Marvin, and Thomas Paden.

Expect 100,000 To Gather At National Plowing Battle

By LARRY AULDRIDGE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

URBANA, O., Sept. 7.—Plowing—the oldest known occupation but with a brand new twist—will draw a crowd of 100,000 to Urbana, O., next Tuesday and Wednesday for the national plowing matches.

Farm experts from all parts of the country began arriving today in Urbana to prepare for one of the biggest land "manicuring" jobs ever attempted.

Despite the announcement that President Truman will not make an appearance at the two-day "plowman's world series," attendance is expected to top all previous records.

Speculation has run high for the past several months that the president would pay a visit. But Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross says Mr. Truman plans to remain in Washington to deal with the Korean war problems.

But one celebrity is certain to be there. He is Dean Wilson, the 24-year-old Urbana farm boy who, for the past two years, has won the national contour plowing title. He will vie for a third victory.

Wilson's success, in fact is the reason the contests are being held in Urbana instead of Iowa, the site of the previous matches. Paul Steisbold of Napierville, Ill., the 1949 national level-land plowing champion, will try for another win. He and Wilson are matched against 40 other plowmen from 18 states.

Most of the state champions are yet to be selected. Missouri will be represented by 16-year-old Larry Long of Ridgeway and Virgil Taul, 33-year-old Pattonsburg, Mo., farmer. New York will be represented by John Wells of Akron, N. Y.

An endless stream of 200 tractor-pulled wagons will take sightseers over the 1,200 acre open air show, making stops at the hundreds of demonstration plots.

In a natural amphitheater surrounded by county fair-like booths there will be entertainment and speeches.

But, behind all the ballyhoo and promotion is the slogan of "Save Our Soil" which explains the serious purpose of the entire program of scientific farming demonstrations.

The Sydney, Astralia, lighthouse has the largest electric light in the world. It can be seen 50 miles at sea.

Bernard Shaw's Plays Lack Former Ability

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(INS)—London critics agreed today that 94-year-old George Bernard Shaw may not be as good a playwright as he once was.

They panned the premiere of Shaw's new play, "Far Fetched Fables".

The critic of the London Daily Telegraph said:

"One could only wish some devoted friend would prevent any more of his plays from getting on the stage."

Ward Activity Has Fall Trend

Civic Club Gets Ready For Action

With summer vacation period over for most residents of the Seventh Ward, thoughts of the citizens and businessmen are turned toward the fall season when indoor activities will replace most of the outdoor gatherings and other events which are attended by the residents.

A visit to the ward on Wednesday by the Seventh Ward reporter, revealed that much Fall work is underway as residents are preparing their homes for the colder weather and businessmen are changing their window displays to fall merchandise and outdoor hunting scenes which remind the male residents of the game season which will soon get underway.

The Seventh Ward Civic club headed by A. M. Hyde has not started to function yet after a summer of idleness, but announcement is to come soon of the club's first meeting of the fall season. The group aims toward many civic improvements in the ward and will be planning many functions will be participated in by old and young.

The ward churches are likewise looking forward to accelerated activity when many new projects will be started by the pastors and their members. Improvement programs have been carried on in each of the churches during the past months.

Much improvement was noted on Liberty street in the transformation of several of the older buildings during the past few months. Some new fronts have been added making for much better looking buildings which house the various ward merhcants and their stock.

Mrs. Mary Rainey of 7 Darlington avenue, is recovering nicely in the New Castle hospital after breaking her arm in accident at her home about a week ago.

Mrs. Rainey was working in her house adjusting some house plants, and when standing upon a stool fell and broke her left arm at the shoulder. Due to the nature of the break, doctors were unable to place the arm in a cast. It is reported that the bones are knitting nicely.

A week prior to her accident, Mrs. Rainey was visiting friends at Monaca and a window which she was looking out came down and struck her on the head causing severe pain. She was confined to her bed for a week as a result of that accident.

BEDSPREAD TRICKS

NEW YORK — (INS) — You can do several things with a bedspread that's no longer useful on your bed. For instance, make a mattress pad, or cut the spread into convenient sizes and sew two pieces together for a bath mat. Another way to use an old bedspread is as a cover for large objects that need protection from dust. Or how about turning it into a cleaning and mop cloth.

France To Send Battalion To Aid U.N. Korea Battle

PARIS, Sept. 7—(INS)—France's contribution to the United Nations forces in Korea shapes up today as only a battalion in size but it will be hand-picked, experienced and "spoiling" for a fight. The unit destined for Korea technically is known as a "bataillon de marche," a specially formed battalion specifically tailored and trained for a particular task—and able to move at high speed on its own feet.

Every soldier and officer in the outfit will be a hand-picked, tested volunteer. Practically all of them will be drawn from French forces which have been fighting for years against Communists in Indo-China.

In command of the battalion will be one of France's most famous generals, who is voluntarily shedding his general's stars and assuming the rank of battalion commander for this special tour of duty.

Lt. Col. Henry M. Gross, state director, said all inductees will be sent to the reception center at Fort Jackson, S. C., for processing.

POTATOES

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Potatoes are again making headlines in the food news. The Agriculture Department predicts that again in 1950, American farmers will be producing more than enough spuds to satisfy the country's collective appetite. Already the increasing shipments of new potatoes from California and the sunny south are vying for market attention with the heavy supplies of old-stock tubers from northern producing areas.

About 70 tons of cavier are produced yearly from Persia's Caspian sea waters. Ninety per cent goes to Russia.

A&P Makes Marketing Bliss for the Junior Miss!

The young are among A&P's most enthusiastic customers. They say our values are "terrif" . . . our assortments "marvy" and our personnel "hep." And although that may sound like be-bop, it's music to our ears. Because we know that, in spite of their youth, teenagers are no mean marketers. They wouldn't be given the responsibility of spending the family food money if they were. They never forget that responsibility either . . . no matter how much fun they have. And they have plenty . . . judging from their happy smiles as they pick and choose from hundreds of fine foods at A&P, where marketing's bliss for the Junior Miss, as well as for her mother.

Eichelberger Says Allies Will Hold Pusan Supply Port

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, (Ret.), expressed confidence Wednesday that outnumbered United Nations forces will be able to retain a bridgehead in Korea and hold the vital supply port of Pusan.

Gen. Eichelberger, who was second in command to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Far East during World War II, said that although United Nations troops may be forced to pull in from some of their present defense zones, the resulting narrowing perimeter surrounding Pusan will prove too tough a nut for the Red force to crack.

Such a defense arc, according to the general, will enable the vastly superior air power of combined army, navy and marine aviation, plus gunfire from naval warships, to so relentlessly pound the enemy attackers as to "tear them to bits."

At the same ime, Gen. Eichelberger urged the United States to move quickly to enlist the full power of Japan on our side. He described the 84,000,000 Japanese as friendly to the United States, and said that the security of Nippon and of this country are linked togeher.

Male And Female Army Doctors To Receive Same Pay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(INS)—The Senate Wednesday approved by voice vote a House-passed measure to give women doctors in the army and air force the same pay and promotion chances already in effect for male medicos.

The bill is designed to encourage women doctors to fill the gaps in the service medical ranks.

Lady doctors of the navy were left out of the proposal at the Defense department's request. Seafaring, the department pointed out, "renders the including of the navy both unwise and unnecessary."

Women doctors in the navy are commissioned in the Waves rather than in the sea service's medical department. Under, existing law, air force and army women doctors are limited both as to pay and rank.

In The Open

I spent a long half hour one recent humid afternoon visiting with some of the thousands of tireless workers who own and operate the wild honey concession in a certain gigantic old white oak. Surely a majestic "bee tree," this old timer stands on a cleared slope just above a small pool. Guided by scouts who had found the cavity in the great bole of the aging tree, the eager swarmers had established their queen in residence and were booming along at a lively clip which indicated a strong, healthy colony and many pounds of delicious honey put down for the winter in those dark recesses.

The workers were using three entries, all close to the ground. The main entrance was jammed with a continuous flow of traffic, most marvelous to behold. Out came an endless stream of bees assigned to the supply service. Once through the mad whirl at the entry they were off and away for the pollen field, or the nectar pots, or the water supply.

Return With Loot

Down from the crowded air lanes came the laden workers, little freebooters returning with loot pilfered from many an obliging aster or goldenrod, or bringing water from a nearby spring run. The pollen bearers swaggered in like cowboys wearing yellow or red chaps, according to where they had filled their pollen sacks. Once inside they went to the proper cell, kicked off the pollen as a man kicks off his boots, and hurried afield once more, leaving further handling of the pollen to an inside worker.

The honeybee has one ambition. He wants to be rich, and he works mightily during his span of life to lay up the stores which make for wealth in the honey industry. Production and more production is his credo, with never a complaint as to working hours, lunch periods or five-day weeks. When the weather permits he works from dawn to dusk afield and helps with necessary chores inside during the dark hours.

The countryman finds the doings of the wild bees a most fascinating study. Philosophers and sermonizers can learn much from these little republicans. As I spied on their busy landing platform a committee of two brought out a dead worker, hauled her to the edge and dropped her lifeless body clear of the entrance. A distant roll of thunder and a sudden lowering sky brought the workers in pell mell from the fields. When I moved on the traffic jam in that small entryway seemed a hopeless snarl.

Purely Plebeian

Perhaps my taste is purely plebeian, but I prefer the sun-tanned buckwheat honey above the so-called clover and other white honeys sold in the markets. The distilled buckwheat nectar is a little robust, but it has character to tempt the taste of the true countryman, especially on a frosty morning when buckwheat cakes brown on the griddle and tender sausage sizzles on the plate.

Leaving the wild bees to their happy industry I struck out across a hillside pasture, heading for a distant woodland I had known well as a youth. A beagle pup challenged my passage through his barnyard domain and some browsing cattle were most curious as to my intrusion. I finally reached the ridge, badly out of puff, and walked into the cooling shade of the thick timbered growth.

At least twenty-five years have intervened since I last patrolled that particular bit of countryside. Here as a lad sojourning with a favorite uncle I first learned the knack of the double-bitted axe and the two-man crosscut saw. Here I discovered the beauty and wonders of the wayside trails, kindling an interest and enthusiasm for the outdoors which has burned brightly through the years.

In those early days cattle roamed the woods and the adjacent fields were well kept. Now the picture was one of complete abandonment, with fences gone, the woods a tangled jungle and the fields grown to impenetrable thickets of hawthorn and wild cherry, with a few wild crabapples thrown in to make sure the passer-by stayed out.

I can remember but one osage orange—a chance intruder which had prospered among the gnarled oaks and the straight hickories of that open woodland. Now the odd greenery of osage foliage is on every hand. I revisited favorite nooks and corners, only to find the rampant unchecked growth had completely changed the picture.

Even the spring which we had so carefully tended has reverted to an unapproachable little slough, its outer ramparts guarded by a dense growth of poison ivy. Gone forever is the chuckling flow of limpid cooling water which once came through the inch pipe we had driven deep into the source in the limestone ledges.

New Castle Woman Is Granted Patent On 'Doily Drier'

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. — On August 22, 1950, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,519.767 on a "Doily Drier" to Levina May Kidder, New Castle, Pa.

As is generally known, the drying of knit doilies, mats, etc., is often accompanied by an impairment of shape, with the result that the dried articles become non-uniform and unattractive in appearance. To overcome this limitation, resort is occasionally made to makeshift methods such as marking the original shape on a piece of cardboard and pinning the article thereto. Obviously, such practices call for some degrees of skill, are slow of accomplishment, and are quite unreliable at times.

It is an object of Miss Kidder's invention to present a solution to this problem and, for this purpose, she has devised a novel, resilient support upon which doilies, mats and the like may be simultaneously and stretched into proper shape. Simple in design, her construction comprises essentially an elongated resilient band, along the upper edges of which are a series of projecting pins. The ends of the band are provided respectively with a pointed tongue and a slot so that when the former is inserted in the latter, there results a circular hoop. It should be noted that a number of spring clips project below the lower edge of the hoop to form legs that permit a free circulation of air; and furthermore, provision is made for changing the shape of the device into ovals of varying contours or into a substantially square form.

In the use of Miss Kidder's appliance, it is only necessary to attach the marginal edge of the knitted article to the pins; and because of the expansive action of the hoop, it will be stretched as it is dried.

It is claimed that the contrivance of this invention performs its intended functions in an adequate, accurate, economical and easy manner.

The application for this patent, which consists of seven claims of originality, was filed on March 2, 1946.

Do you have an owner's hand?

ANY gypsy worth a gold bangle will tell you that palm reading is tricky stuff. Because no two hands are exactly alike. The hands shown above, for example, reveal different temperaments and tempers and abilities.

Most American hands, however, have this similarity: they belong to the owners of business-managed electric companies like this one.

Several million Americans, in every walk of life, own the securities of these companies.

And some 72,000,000 are indirect owners, through their life insurance and savings bank accounts. For when banks and insurance companies accept your money, they must invest it wisely, and much of it goes into electric light and power companies.

U.S. Actions Aim At Peace Not Conquests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—(INS)—President Truman emphasized Thursday that U.S. actions in Korea, Formosa and other parts of Asia are aimed at peace—not conquest.

The President made his statement in a brief address to the National Citizens' Committee for United Nations day which is headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Speaking to the group in the Rose Garden of the White House, Mr. Truman said the U.N. "is' our one hope to which we can look for a peaceful world." He added:

U.N. Must Succeed

"We must see that the United Nations itself is a successful and going organization.

"The government of the United States is trying by every means at its command to support the United Nations with all it has—men, arms, and efforts for peace.

"We are carrying on this action in Korea for a peaceful world, not for conquest. We have no ambition in Asia except for a peaceful Asia. We have no ambition in Europe except for a peaceful Europe, and we have no ambition in South America except for a peaceful South America. That is our only ambition."

Can't Catch Up With Der Bingle

(By International News Service)

DENVER, (INS)—Anyone who has a record player knows how the hobby of collecting records just grows, and grows and grows.

Henry J. Kaiser of Denver thought he had found the solution: he would limit his records to those made by just one artist. The idea was good, but his choice of Bing Crosby as the artist was unfortunate.

He already owns 550 disks made by the crooner and hasn't completed his collection yet .

His oldest record is one grooved in 1928 when Crosby sang with the Rhythm Boys for Paul Whiteman's band. Der Bingle's name doesn't appear on the label — or any of those for the next 70 records — but there's no mistaking the voice despite many changes throughout the years.

Matter of fact Bing started out as a tenor and somewhere along the line he drifted down into his present baritone.

Business Manners Course Offered

LUBBOCK—(INS)—The clash of yellow and orange on a job applicant's necktie might influence the man's future more than his technical skill—and the Texas Tech division of business administration wants to do something about it.

Dean George G. Heather says personnel managers and businessmen are more critical of the personal traits of the collegiate jobhunter than his know-how. Tech will offer a new course this fall—Business Comportment—which aims to take the rough edges off the applicant and give him poise in the business world.

"The new courses will stress business etiquette, good grooming, correct speech and composure instead of theory," Dr. Heather adds.

Industrial managers and business leaders will speak to the classes as a supplement to regular lectures.

Book Returned Almost Two Hundred Years Late

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Columbia University's Library waived a $3,255 overdue fine today on a "late returned" book.

The volume was returned to the library 178 years late.

It was checked out of the library of King's College, predecessor of present day Columbia, in 1772 by Robert Harpur, the librarian.

Enos Johnston of Brooklyn, a descendant of Harpur, recently found the book in hs mother's attic in Binghamton, N. Y.

University officials said they did not imagine Harpur had any "malicious intent in keeping the book so long."

Carbondale Man Sets Fire To Two Houses, Kills Self In Plane

MATAMORAS, Pa., Sept. 7.—(INS)—A 35-year-old Carbondale pilot was killed last night when his spinning airplane plunged into a residential section of Matamoras.

Two homes were set afire by the blazing wreckage but the occupants escaped injury.

The victim was identified by police as Derwood Elliot Davis.

Witnesses said Davis twice buzzed the house tops in his four-passenger monoplane but failed to pull out of a dive the third time.

The plane caromed off one house into the second and then broke in half.

Congressman To Run For Governor Of New York State

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 7.—(INS)—Walter A. Lynch, 56-year-old congressman from New York City, and a strong Truman administration supporter, was nominated by acclamation Thursday as the Democratic candidate for governor of New York.

He will face Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who was nominated today for a third term.

The nomination was made at the final session of the 1950 Democratic state convention in Rochester.

In the balloting the delegates gave 762 votes to Lynch, 67 to Oscar R. Ewing, federal security administrator, and eight votes to State Supreme Court Justice Walter Bliss.

Sen. Herbert H. Lehman won the nomination for the U. S. senatorial post on the Democratic ticket.

Rep. William J. Byrne moved that the nomination of Lynch be made unanimous, and amid a burst of cheers the convention voted by acclamation that Lynch was the party's choice.

After the business meeting, corn and wieners were served, with the ladies of the auxiliary as special guests.

It was announced that members of private fire companies in industries in the county will be privileged to attend the coming fire school. The fire chiefs of the county will meet with the fire school committee on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Neshannock township fire department to complete the final arrangements for the school.

Harry Leathers, fire chief of Slippery Rock township, reported that 35 county fire police assisted the Optimist club in the annual orange crate derby, Monday, and that the club extended its appreciation for the fine assistance given.

Plans were also made for the annual fund raising project of the county association.

James Messner, Archie Shoup, Bob Miller, and John Mitchell were named on a committee to arrange for a blood donor day for the county firemen, arrangements for which will be announced when completed.

Charles Porter, fire marshal of Beaver county was present and spoke briefly.

The next meeting will be held at Edenburg, with the new Mahoning township department as hosts.

—New Castle News Photo

These bags are made by volunteer sewing units of the American Red Cross and are packed by still other volunteer units. 220 of the bags have been given to the 229th and about 35 will be given to the 384th chemical company sometime this week. The bags were distributed by Mrs. Paul Walter, Mrs. James Flynn, Mrs. Fred Scheppele, Mrs. Lyle Hughes and Mrs. Leroy Webster and the executive secretary, Mrs. Louise McConnell.

Players Club To Start Casting

Casting for the one-act farce comedy, "You've Got a Nerve", will start this evening as The Players club of New Castle meets in the Y. W. C. A. at 7:30. "You've Got a Nerve" will be directed by Bart Fletcher and will bring local talent to the theater.

Tryouts for two other one-act plays will be given as Mrs. Marion Stafford, director of the group, and Carl Cotton, co-director, prepare for casting plays filled with comedy and drama.

In the play "You've Got a Nerve', one of the unusual and difficult parts is that of a Japanese houseboy. Recent readings have uncovered such exceptional talents that Director Fletcher has two men to choose from for the part of the houseboy.

All three directors for The Players club stated today that there are several very good male parts open. The club is looking for additional talent in the arts and crafts of the theater as well as acting ability, it was also stated.

Paul Kielar of New Castle, who has been directing plays on the west coast and who has been very prominent in the Pasadena Playhouse, is expected to be the guest of The Players club this evening.

Mrs. Vogeler Will Try To Get Husband Released From Jail

VIENNA, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Mrs. Robert A. Vogeler said today she will be in Washington Oct. 1 "to camp on the White House steps if necessary" to get her husband freed from a Hungarian jail.

Vogeler, International Telegraph Co. vice president, has been in jail for seven months serving a 15-year sentence. He was "convicted" by the communist regime in Budapest as a spy.

The blonde, Flemish-born wife of the imprisoned American businessman declared:

"I'm going to travel 4,000 miles to appeal personally to President Truman, to ask why Bob is still a victim of the cold war.'

She plans to leave Vienna either Sept. 25 or 26, depending on travel accommodations. She will go by ship.

Mrs. Vogeler, who met with Secretary of State Acheson in London on May 12, said she made it clear to American officials at that time she would wait just three months "for action".

She remarked:

"I'm terribly depressed and losing patience.

"I told them I'd camp on the White House steps if necessary to see the president, and that's my plan."

HARRISBURG, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Appointment of Stanley P. Ashe of Pittsburgh, former warden of Rockview state penitentiary, as a member of the western state penitentiary board of trustees was announced by Gov. James H. Duff.

New York To Get Air Raid System

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(INS)—A citywide air raid warning signal system will go into effect in New York at 8 a. m. Monday.

From then on, sirens on police and fire vehicles and ambulances will be silenced except in event of an actual raid or danger of a raid.

Announcement of the program was made by city civil defense director Arthur W. Wallander, who said that after Monday morning "any unannounced siren signals will mean that an alert has been received from the U. S. Air Force".

A system of sirens is being established at fixed locations throughout the city. Until this system is completed, police and fire sirens will stand by for air raid warning purposes.

JUST ANOTHER WAR

HOULTON, Me. — Jeremiah Campbellton, who was born 22 years before the Civil War broke out, not only is alive today but, at the age of 111, follows with keen interest by radio the progress of the Korean war.

The principal export of Tibet is wool.

How will the Korean crisis affect coal?

No one can now answer this question, because no one knows all the facts or can anticipate them. One thing we do know: Common-sense buying and storing of coal to build up inventories and prepare for winter and possible transportation shortages, which are growing, will be to the great advantage of those who purchase coal before winter comes and before railroad equipment, including cars for the transportation of coal, are taken for the use of the increasing output of military supplies.

You can now select the kind of coal that is most suitable for your own home. By careful selection you can not only obtain coal of the kind you need but can, at the same time, protect your continuity of supply from responsible producers who can and will serve your needs. Whether you are making steel, heating your home, supplying a factory, or operating any other type of industrial business, you can still select coals that will give you the greatest efficiency. There is normally enough good coal to go around if bought and stored wisely throughout the year. A sound buying policy now will help keep the coal industry free from government controls, government allocations and government distribution under which you would not always be able to select coal of the size, kind and quality you need.

We do not recommend the type of inventory buying that has developed and which has helped create shortages and increase prices in foods, copper, steel, lumber, rubber, sugar, textiles and many other commodities in the past few weeks. This type of buying is unwise and, if continued, will probably prove disastrous to all industry if every user of materials, who normally carries a 60-day supply, tries to get a year's supply. That is what is causing Congress to consider drastic laws to control the price and distribution of goods.

Our country is confronted with a critical situation, but with good, sound thinking and common sense, it can, in cooperation with other peace-loving nations, establish a sound and just peace in the world more quickly than if we approach our problems in an hysterical manner.

COAL IS OUR COUNTRY'S BASIC MATERIAL FOR HEAT, LIGHT AND POWER. Except for an ample supply of coal in the United States, World Wars I and II could not have been brought to a successful conclusion. Coal stands ready to serve again, but it can serve most effectively only if coal is stored in the greatest possible quantities during the spring, summer and fall months when transportation and handling are most efficient.

AMERICAN ELM TREE MENACED

Dutch elm disease is attacking many elms in Lawrence county. This disease, first found in 1949 north of New Castle, has spread to elms in several areas.

This disease is caused by a fungus which attacks all species of American elm. The leaves of affected trees wilt and become dry, sometimes so suddenly they fall while still green. The entire tree may show infection within ten days after the first signs. Wilting usually takes place more gradually. The trees may die the same year they become infected but sometimes after slight infection they may recover. The wilting and subsequent death of limbs or trees is caused by the fungus clogging the water conducting parts of the trees. The disease may spread to early trees through root grafts. Spores (seeds) of the fungus are formed in the channels made under the bark by the elm bark beetles. These spores are spread to healthy trees by the bark beetles when they emerge in the spring and summer to feed in the twig crotches of the healthy trees. Trees weakened by foliage diseases and insects are particularly subject to attacks by the Dutch elm disease.

Although the Dutch elm disease is destructive, especially to weakened trees, most of our elms may be saved by destruction of diseased limbs and trees, by providing good growing conditions and by giving adequate protection to the trees from pests. The destruction of diseased and dying limbs or trees removes the source o fthe disease from the area. Diseased or dying trees are a special menace to healthy trees nearby or within 500 to 1,000 feet. Burn infested wood promptly or treat with an effective spray.

Good growing conditions aid trees in withstanding attacks of the disease. Elms grow best in soil testing above pH 6.5. Add lime to sweeten the soil and fertilizers for nutritive needs. Water trees when they need it.

SIGNING LETTER TO DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

Question: My daughter-in-law calls me "Mrs. Smith'. Should I sign my letters to her "Mrs. Smith"?

Answer: Never, under any social circumstance, sign your name "Mrs. Smith". Sign your daughter-in-law's letters: "Mary Smith."

Question: Is it proper for a hostess to wear a taffeta housecoat at an afternoon party in her home attended only by women?

Answer: No. A housecoat is simply a glorified negliee and should not be worn for enetrtaining purposes. If you happen to be wearing one when friends unexpectedly arrive, you may correctly keep it on.

Question: At what age should a small boy be taught to remove his hat when indoors?

Answer: As soon as he is graduated from the baby-cap stage, he should be taught to remove his hat. In other words, he should be taught this form of courtesy as soon as he begins wearing a "stingy" or any other kind of hat that is easily removed. And he should be taught to remove his hat upon entering his own house as well as entering the homes of others.

Question: When it is necessary to remove a bone or pit from one's mouth, how is it done? (2) Should food, in the mouth too hot to chew, be removed?

Answer: (1) Either with the fork or spoon (whichever you are using), or with the fingers. The bone or pit should be placed on the side of the plate. (2) Immediately take a swallow of cold water. Food once taken into the mouth should never be taken out.

Question: Is it correct for the hostess to ask her guests if they will have second helpings at dinner.

Answer: At an informal dinner it is perfectly correct for the hostess to suggest and for the guests to accept a second helping. At formal dinners, they should not be offered.

Freshmen Will Arrive Tuesday

Westminster Prepares For School Opening

Westminster college will begin its 99th session Tuesday as freshmen arrive on the campus for a week of tests and orientation.

Approximately 400 new students are expected to enroll this fall, including 350 freshmen. Upperclassmen will arrive on the campus Sept. 18. Classes will begin Sept. 19.

Around 1,100 Students

The new student enrollment is expected to bring the total enrollment to around 1,100—approximately the same as last year. The freshmen enrollment is expected to be the largest in several years.

Students returning to classes this fall will find a $735,000 expansion program underway. Presently being constructed are a new field house, dormitory and college manse. A new athletic field covering 12 acres is also in the final stages of preparation.

The first college football game will be played the week classes begin. Westminster's Titan gridders will meet Slippery Rock Teachers at Slippery Rock Sept. 23.

JOHN MARK MADE GOOD

HE BECAME A WORTHY MEMBER OF CHURCH

Scripture—Mark 14:51-52; Acts 12:12, 25; 13:4-5; 15:36-40; Colossians 4:10; Timothy 4:11; Philemon 24; I Peter 5:13.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

St. Mark

"We are God's fellow-workers." —I Corinthians 3:9.

The story of John whose surname was Mark is one of a man who was possibly lukewarm in the faith, at first, and failed on a certain mission, angering Paul. But he "made good", and became a trusted member of the early church circle, as Peter, having once done wrong, became its leader.

In his own book Mark tells of an odd incident at the time of Jesus' arrest that is not mentioned in any of the other books of the New Testament.

The apostles all forsook the Master and fled, but one young man followed Him, dressed in a loose cloak. The young men took hold of his garment, and he left it with them and fled, naked. Some students of the Bible think that this man was Mark.

The next mention of Mark is in Acts, when Peter, released from prison by an angel, knocked at the door of the house of "Mary the mother of John whose surname was Mark.' She evidently was a widow and well-off, and her home was a gathering point for the disciples.

Paul and Barnabas, you may remember, were sent from Antioch by the brethren there to Jerusalem, to help those at the mother church who were in need. When they returned, Mark was with them. Mark was with them, also when they were preaching in the synagogues at Salamis. He seems not to have been a preacher and teacher, but he acted as a helper to the leaders—doing everything to assist their work.

Now, Mark failed the others. It is possible that he was homesick and tired of traveling about from town to town. At any rate, he left the company at Perga in Pamphylia, and went home to Jerusalem.

We are not told when John rejoined them again, but he did and at Antioch, we are told, Paul suggested to Barnabas that they visit the other cities where they had established churches, Barnabas agreed, and wanted to take Mark with them. Paul objected, and the two men had words about the matter—a sharp disagreement—which ended when Barnabas took Mark and sailed for Cyprus, and Paul choose Silas and went through Syria and Cilicia confirming the churches.

Barnabas was a kinsman of Mark's, and possibly understood the young man better than Paul whose missionary spirit ruled him completely. Paul did not retain his enmity against Mark, however. When he was in prison, near the end of his life, he wrote to the Colossians that "Aristarchus my fellow-prisoner saluteth you, and Marcus, sister's son to Barnabas."

Again, Paul, writing to Timothy, says, "Only Luke is with me. Take Mark and bring him with thee: for he is profitable to me for the ministry." In his imprisonment and nearing his second trial before Nero, Paul wanted the young Mark to come and "minister" to him.

Again, writing to Philemon, he says, "Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas, Lucas, my fellow-laborers," so Mark most certainly had made good in Paul's eyes.

Peter adds his testimony in favor of Mark, when he writes "to the strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia," that "the church that is at Babylon, elected together wtih you, saluteth you: and so doth Marcus, my son." Peter must have had a warm affection for Mark to mention him as his "son". Mark might have been a former pupil of Peter's.

Writing of Mark, the late Dr Harrington C. Lees has this striking passage concerning the book which bears his name: "The briefest and clearest and the first of the Gospel stories was written by Mark the run-away, who came back and fought a good fight and finished his course—not a great man, but the prop of great men and invaluable to those whose services the Church of Christ has reckoned beyond price.'

Eight American Soldiers Reach British Lines

WITH BRITISH FORCES ON THE NAKTONG RIVER FRONT, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Eight American soldiers cut off by North Korean guerrillas for two days walked into British lines Wednesday morning.

One of them, Pvt. Joseph Muscarno of (112 W. Broadway avenue) Clifton Heights, Pa., said the squad mistook the guerrillas for friendly South Koreans and gave them food.

Then as the Americans walked away, he said, the Koreans opened fire on them. The Americans hid in the hills until they were able to make their way into British lines.

Interested in the overflow of sewage water from the County Home out onto the Princeton road, the State Health department had a man in Lawrence county Tuesday inspecting the condition.

Unique Shelter Will Cover Amphitheater

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7—(INS)—Philadelphia may soon boast the only outdoor musical amphitheater in the world that opens and closes like an umbrella.

Harassed by frequent postponements caused by rain, Robin Hood Dell President Frederick R. Mann has ordered plans drawn up for a unique "roof."

Mann said that when it rains the shelter would close like a roof and when good weather prevails it would open like a umbrella or convertible car "so as not to spoil the Al Fresco effect and natural atmosphere."

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(INS)—Tweed—usually a rough-'n-ready fabric—turns into a soft-'n-heady one this fall.

Designers have converted the tweed suit from a casual sports style to a dress-up affair that's every bit as correct at cocktail hour as the martini.

Under the name, "Tweed at Twilight," one of Fifth Avenue's most exclusive shops is devoting all its windows to featuring husky tweed suits and coats with velvet collars, satin linings, and the fanciest of blouses.

Especially recommended for high-fashion-wear in '50 and '51 are tweeds tinged with reddish and purple shades. With them — all black accessories.

In the jewelry line, no pearl, jet or rhinestone is too flashy for tweed trimming.

Janitors Improve City Building

William Pillifant and two assistant janitors of city hall have greatly improved the appearance of city hall.

They painted all of the basement stairways, hallways and rooms and washed walls.

It was a large job but the rooms, even the boiler room, is very clean now.

In addition, railing along the city hall parking place has been given a coat of aluminum paint.

Hygiene Foundation Attacks Pollution

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7.—(INS)—A new attack on the problem of air pollution has been launched by the Industrial Hygiene Foundation at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh.

Steel companies in the district, which have been co-operating in helping to reduce pollution, will make their data and equipment available to the foundation.

New methods and devices for collecting air samples will be put to work. The program calls for expenditure of $20,000 within six months to study steel mill processes and atmospheric conditions in the areas of many mills.

The results of this preliminary research will determine whether a concerted effort by the steel industry in developing air pollution control is needed, and if so, along what lines.

Among the first problems to be attacked is the development of standard, practical tests for measuring dust and gases from furnaces.

Ambassador To Canada Never Wrote Sports

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7—(INS)—Stanley Woodward, U. S. ambassador to Canada, wants to make it clear that "I was never a sportswriter." Woodward explained:

"When I was chief of protocol in the State department I received a letter from a sports fan who said that he had read a book on football published under my name."

Since then, the ambassador said, he has received numerous other inquiries of how he went from football to protocol.

Woodward said that he is often mistaken for a New York sportswriter of the same name, and added that he wrote rules for entertaining visiting diplomats but never wrote sports.

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief!

RELIEVE THE REAL CAUSE OF YOUR STOMACH DISTRESS

Indigestion, Gas Pains, Heartburn, Bloating when Due to Vitamin B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin Deficiencies

ONE OF THE GREATEST BLESSINGS OF THE TIMES!

Here is some wonderful news for you folks who suffer so from stomach disturbances (indigestion, gas, heartburn, sour 'risings' in your throat after meals) because your system lacks the important Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin.

Now—thanks to the great new HADACOL—you can actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of such stomach disturbances caused by these deficiencies. A marked improvement is often noticed within a few days' time. And continued use of HADACOL not only gives continuous, complete relief, but helps prevent such distress from coming back. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Anyone would be very foolish indeed to be satisfied with symptomatic relief, when HADACOL now makes it possible to relieve the VERY CAUSE of this stomach distress due to such deficiencies—know the joy of eating the foods you like without belching and suffering gas pains, heartburn and torturing indigestion afterwards!

How HADACOL Works . . .

HADACOL not only supplies weak, run-down, deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin but also beneficial amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—so vital to help maintain good health.

And these Vitamins and Minerals come in special liquid form so that they can be more easily and quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood—ready to go right to work at once. HADACOL even reinforces your red blood cells (when iron is needed) to carry these healthful elements to every organ in your body — to the kidneys, lungs, liver and heart.

Start taking HADACOL at once. HADACOL costs only a small amount a day. Trial-size bottle, $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Sold on a strict money-back guarantee.

Just a Few of Thousands of Folks With Such Deficiencies Who Have Been Helped!

Tess Kinman, advertising clerk of 1202 Main Street, Cincinnati, Ohio: "I had a nervous stomach. Fried foods, radishes, and other gas-forming foods didn't agree with me. I had no appetite. Indigestion was a chronic worry and bother. Now I have a wonderful appetite. And I eat anything I want to with no fear of indigestion or gas. I owe it all to HADACOL."

Bethel G. Jones, Florida Power Corporation load dispatcher: "I've suffered from stomach distress for quite some time and spent thousands of dollars on medicine and X-rays. I had been reading about HADACOL in the newspapers. I started by buying a small bottle. I am now on my fourth large bottle, and HADACOL has relieved me tremendously. I noticed the difference in the way I felt after a few days. I can't praise HADACOL enough for what it has done for me."

Mr. James Keelan, Jr., 5565 Labadie Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri: "Recently I'd been troubled with heartburn and indigestion. Since taking HADACOL, I no longer suffer heartburn and now I can eat anything without ever suffering after-meal distress. I've recommended it to a number of my fellow-workers."

W. E. Hoxworth, a skilled maintenance man in Waco, Texas, says: "I almost had to give up my job because of suffering stomach distress. I couldn't hold my food, as no food agreed with me. After completing a second bottle of HADACOL, I began to feel better and I suffered no more indigestion. I now take HADACOL regularly to help stay well."

Pretty Mrs. Alma Kincaid, 2125 East Adelaide Street, St. Louis, Missouri, told us this: "I want you to know how much better I feel since I've taken HADACOL. I've had stomach distress for quite a while. But nothing did me any good. They just said I had a nervous stomach. This is my second bottle of HADACOL and I really feel fine. I'm not nervous; I never feel tired. I can eat anything I want to."

Mrs. Hilton Shuff, Rt. 1, Box 42, Ville Platte, La.: "At night I couldn't rest and no matter what I ate, it didn't agree with me. Then my sister told me about HADACOL. I took her advice. I felt better after the third bottle. So far I've taken 15 bottles of HADACOL. I eat anything I want to. I sleep well every night, and my housework doesn't tire me at all."

Rosh Hashanoh To Start Friday

Local Jewry Will Observe Holy Days

At the setting of the sun Monday, September 11, Israel the world over will observe the holiday of Rosh Hashanoh, known as the Hebrew religious New Year of 5711. The holiday of Rosh Hashanoh lasts two days, which coincides this year on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 12 and 13, respectively.

Rosh Hashanoh, is called the "Head of the Year," the "Yom Hadin," the day of judgement, "Yom Toruoh," the day of the sounding of the Shofar, and "Yom Hazikoron," the day of remembrance. Its historical significance is the creation of the world and its moral message is divine intercession with a special call for introspection penitence and benevolence.

Liturgical prayers are interwoven with supplications for the welfare of mankind. Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will officiate and preach on both days of Rosh Hasanoh, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 12 and 13, upon the subjects of "Becoming a New Person" and "The Language of Man." Rev. Benjamin Miller, cantor, will chant the liturgical selections for the high-holidays.

Services will commence Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock and 7:30 a. m. on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 12 and 13. Rev. Morris Kronish will assist with the liturgical readings in the mornings.

The junior congregational services for Rosh Hashanoh will be for the students of the daily and Sunday school departments will meet with Rabbi Jules Lipschutz on both days at 9 a. m. in the vestry of the synagogue. Sermons preached by Lynn Slovonsky and Marshall Ginsburg of the Consecration class. Parents and friends are invited to attend the youth services.

The Sabbath religious services will be ushered in this Friday evening at Tifereth Israel synagogue at 7:30 p. m. and Saturday morning at 8 a. m.

Sunday school classes this Sunday, September 10, will be dedicated to an assembly portraying the laws and customs of the high-holidays, Rosh Hashanoh and Yom Kippur. Parents are invited to attend with the children.

RED BEETS

NEW YORK—(INS) Here are two ways to keep the bright red color of beets. Cook them in their skins. Leave the roots and about two inches of stem on the beets which you cook. That will help keep the color. Another way is to dice or shred the beets and then add just enough moisture to prevent burning.

MEMBERS OF 384th CHEMICAL COMPANY ARE EXAMINED

Doctor Amleto Acquaviva listens to the heart beat of Pfc. Albert Coccia as he gives a physical examination to the members of the 384th Chemical Company of the Organized Reserve Corps. The 384th has been called to active service and will leave about the 19th of September. In the left foreground Capt. John Mortimer, commanding officer of the unit, is checking the list of his men. On the extreme left is 2nd Lt. John Calderbank, platoon leader.

RIDGE CROSSING BY U.S. TROOPS

—Acme Telephoto

SOUTH KOREA—U. S. troops cross a ridge on the Pohang battlefront. The soldiers keep low and cross the ridge by crawling to keep out of sight of the enemy. These troops are engaged in bitter fighting to hold back an all-out attack by the North Korean Reds.

Red Sales On Volga Sunset

LONDON—(INS)—Soviet Russia now has a floating department store on the Volga River.

Moscow radio, monitored in London, reported in this way:

"A large river steamer slowly approaches a freight ship going down the Volga: a bridge is thrown from one vessel to the other and both ships continue their journey at equal speeds.

"Outwardly the second ship does not differ from an ordinary vessel; only a blue signboard on deck say 'Univermag' (Universal Stores). This is the first floating department store in the Volga.

"The food and delicatessen sections are placed in the upper part of the vessel. Below are sections selling industrial goods. The floating department store has a goods turnover equal to that of a big urban department store. It serves freight ships and barges on the Volga during their trips."

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(INS)—Parachute jumping is merely a relaxing hobby for 41-year-old Clarence Alverson of Lexington. Alverson turned chutist with the Navy in 1927. He has since made 300 successful jumps with only one minor accident.

Mystery Sewer Baffles Officials

WILLOUGHBY, O.—(INS)—The sewer system of ancient Rome is much less a mystery than one found recently at Wickliffe, near Willoughby.

A photographer, Al Howard, and some green dye used by navy pilots during World War II aided Wickliffe officials in tracing the course of the mystery sewer.

However, officials are at a loss to determine who and why it was built. The sewer may be a remnant of the WPA days in the early 30's but nobody seems to know why it was built across a private lot and a school ground.

The dye, used by navy pilots as a marker when they were shot down, traced the course of the sewer to its outlet at an open ditch.

Howard climbed down the sewer opening and focused his camera on a speck of light. The focusing apparatus read 50 feet. The light came from a manhole and led to the discovery of the end of the sewer.

County High School Grid Teams Open Season Over Weekend

All Five Teams Go Into Action

New Castle, Ellwood And Union At Home

All five Lawrence county high school football teams swing into action during the coming weekend.

New Castle, Ellwood City and Bessemer open their seasons Friday night, while Shenango and Union ring up the curtain on Saturday night.

New Castle plays host to Carrick high school of Pittsburgh at Taggart stadium in its season's opener.

Last year a lightly regarded Carrick team came to Taggart stadium and almost upset the dope bucket. New Castle squeezed by with a 13-6 win.

One thing for sure is that Coach P. H. Bridenbaugh's charges are not taking this year's Carrick team lightly. Reports from the steel city are that the visitors will field another good, experienced team.

The Red Hurricane squad has been working hard all week and will wind up its work, prior to the game, with practice under the lights tonight.

Ellwood At Home

Ellwood City opens its schedule Friday night at Lincoln high field with Erie Strong Vincent as guests.

Vincent will bring a potentially fine senior-studded team to Ellwood City. Its first string line averages over 180 pounds with the end positions the only real question marks.

Cementers Crippled

Rochester high will serve as an opening game opponent for Bessemer as both teams kick off the lid on the 1950 football season. Bessemer, a class B school will be running against double A competition.

Bessemer will prepare for its opening game with patched-up players and the same kind of lineup.

Mooney Schaville, new kicking star, has suffered from a fractured finger. Joe Commesso and Norman Lupo, wing alternates have come up with injuries, Lupo's broken arm. Commesso will play with a bad "charlie horse."

The one bright light in this gloomy outlook is the playing of negro freshman Sam Riggins. Riggins has been switching from end to halfback and has been a standout on defense.

Shenango Away

Shenango will travel to Clarion county to meet New Bethlehem. New Bethlehem is a class B school with an enrollment of over 400.

Injuries have touched Shenango lightly, but enough to pronounce backs Angie Morrone and Nick Feola doubtful starters. Neither injury is serious, but will keep both boys in limited action.

Johnny Allen and Fred Duckworth have been the offensive standouts, and Don Fracul, Walter Smith, and Frank Fedor, have plugged up the defensive holes.

Shenango has been taking advantage of two a day practices.

Union At Home

Union opens its 1950 season Saturday night with Darlington at Union high field.

Coach Jack Schantz and assistant Soc's Roussos have been working hard trying to get a starting combination for the opener. The squad is reported in good physical condition but still in need of work.

Two-a-day practice sessions have been held since the beginning of practice up until mid-day in this week, when one-a-day practices were dictated because of the beginning of school.

A sprinkling of veterans and a lot of new players is the Union setup.

The 1950 Michigan State track team smashed 12 varsity records during the season, seven indoor and five outdoor.

Senators Trounce Butler 12-3, Even Up Series, Play Here Tonight

Stan Musial Hits Homer To Beat Paul Minner 5-4

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7—(INS)—New Wilmington Paul Minner, ran afoul of the mighty bat of booming Stan Musial in the 10th inning, of a day game at Sporstman Park here yesterday, and lost a tough one 5-4, to the Cards.

Minner (7-11) had a one-hitter going into the last of the ninth inning, the Cards shoving over three runs to tie the ball game up. The Cards also won the night-game 7 to 3 over the Cubs.

Red Sox Bump Yanks

The league-leading Yanks took on Boston. Boston responded happily with 16 hits that socked the New York Yankees silly, 11 to 2.

Simultaneously, the Detroit Tigers, who have been counted out more often than Lee Oma, tallied four times in the seventh inning to beat back the Indians 5 to 3, and move back to within half a game of the top.

Sandalio Consuegra, pitching as rhythmically as his name, shut out the Philadelphia A's as Washington scored a 3-0 victory, and the Chicago White Sox nipped the St. Louis Browns 6 to 5.

Dodgers Win Two

Big Don Newcombe of the Dodgers shut out the Phils 2 to 0 on three hits in the first game—his 17th win.

Who started for Brooklyn in the second game? Big Don Newcombe. The Dodgers also won this one 3 to 2. This was the first time a pitcher had started both games of a twin bill in the majors since Bobo Newsom did it in 1940. Nobody had pitched a complete doubleheader since 1927. Newcombe almost did. He lasted until a pinch hitter batted for him in the last of the eighth.

Pirates Edge Reds

The New York Giants won their 13th game in 16 starts and moved to within half a game of third-place Boston by beating the Braves 3 to 1.

Pittsburgh got a run in the ninth to beat Cincinnati 3 to 2. Ewell Blackwell hit rival pitcher Vernon Law with a pitched ball to force in the winning run.

Brooklyn Loses Roy Campanella

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7—(INS)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's first-string catcher, may be lost to the Dodgers for the rest of the season with a broken thumb.

Campanella was struck on the thumb by a foul tip in the eighth inning of last night's second game with the Phillies and was replaced by Bruce Edwards.

Harold Parrott, the Dodgers' road secretary, said an initial examination showed a fracture and said Campanella "was through for the season."

Top Amateur Golfers Entered In Tourney

SHAWNEE - ON - DELAWARE, Pa., Sept. 7—(INS)—Many of the nation's top amateur golfers tee off today in the Fifth Annual Waite Memorial and National Old Masters Tournaments at Shawnee country club.

Among a field that includes screen star Bob Hope and band leader Fred Waring are the defending champions, Lionel Noah, of New Canaan, Conn., and Ray Billows, of Staatsburg, N. Y.

Entries were also received from Sam Urzetta, who recently beat Frank Stranahan for the U. S. amateur crown, and Harvie Ward, former national intercollegiate champion.

Ben Rossman Hurls Seven-Hitter; Crowd Will See Third Game Here With Churchill Opposing Reeves

A jubilant and spunky young Senators baseball team, rode herd on a gang of hapless Butler Tigers last night at Pullman park in Butler, to even up the current playoff series at one game each, the Senators laying it on the Jungle Cats 12 to 3.

Tonight the Senators and Tigers resume their series at Flaherty Memorial Field this city, with Herb Churchill slated to face Nels Reeves on the mound, and a tizzy of a game is expected. The game tonight will start at 8 o'clock.

Rossman Pitches Superbly

Chicago Ben Rossman did the Senators hurling last night and turned in a great performance, aided by the big bats wielded by his mates, the locals getting 10 hits off Larry Tessier and Tom Pritchard.

The Senators had the game all wrapped up for delivery as early as the fifth inning after scoring four in the fourth and three more in the fifth. Rossman was invinceable once his mates got him the lead, after the Tigers had exploded for two runs in the second inning.

Johnny Vizzini Stars At Bat

Johnny Vizzini the star rookie first sacker was the batting hero for the Senators, getting three hits (in our book) not the official book, two doubles and a single to drive in four runs, he also walked twice and tallied three runs. Other big hitting stars were Danny Dondero and Ben Rossman each with two bingles, while the big Senator siege guns—Tommy "Pop" Famiglietti and Dick Ackerman were held to one hit each. George Eikenberg played a sensational game at short, accepting ten chances flawlessly, while at bat he went hitless, but got credit for two runs batted in.

Expect Large Crowd

In the event of a nice warm evening, which the weatherman has promised, the stands at Flaherty Field tonight should be filled to capacity as the fans turn out to watch the locals strive for the edge game of the series.

The same prices as has prevailed all year will be charged—for the series games—75 cents for gentlemen, 50 for ladies and 25 for children under 12.

First Series Game For New Castle

This is the first year for New Castle in the playoffs in two years as members of the Middle-Atlantic league. The fans are highly excited and will show the Senators their support tonight.

New Castle won the toss last night and the next three games if needed will be played in this city.

Senators Score First

The Senators posted a run in the first. Vizzini hit toward short and Frazier ran away from the ball. Bilo bounded to Milled who kicked it. They advanced on a passed ball. Eikenberg was thrown out by Frazier as Vizzini scored. Famiglietti lifted to Miller and Frazier threw out Ackerman.

The Tigers threatened. With one out Kemp walked. After Falk skied to right, Komisarek doubled to left, but Kemp was out at the plate, Ackerman to Eikenberg to Horne.

Tigers Take Lead

The Tigers came back into the game, took the lead in the second. With one away Miller and Stuckert walked. Dorsey plated Miller with a single to left and Stuckert took third. Tessier drive Ackerman to the fence for his loft and Stuckert came over. Frazier singled down the third base line to send Dorsey to third and took second on the throw in. Mouton made a neat stop to retire Kemp.

Tessier got out of a jam in the third. Rossman singled to short and Vizzini walked. Bilo moved them up, Eikenberg bounced to Frazier who threw out Rossman at the plate. Famiglietti walked to load the bases but Adcock drifted into deep center to take Ackerman's long drive. In the last of the third Falk opened with a single, moved to second on Komisarek's infield out, to third on Adcock's deep center field loft but Miller looked at the third strike.

Score Four Runs

The Senators got four runs in the fourth to give them a 5 to 2 lead. Horne walked, Mouton fanned and Dondero walked. Rossman put one on the carpet and Kemp kicked it and the bases were loaded, Stuckert let Vizzini's drive get away and Horne and Dondero scored. Bilo walked. Eikenberg forced him as Rossman scored. Famiglietti plated Vizzini before Ackerman looked at the third strike. The Tiger pitching blew apart on the fifth with Tessier giving up a hit and three walks before he was yanked in favor of Pritchard. Pritchard walked Eikenberg and Famiglietti to force over two more runs before Ackerman finally struck out.

Senators Rally

In the sixth Horne walked, went to second on a sacrifice. Dondero bounced to Kemp who held the ball and both runers were safe. Rossman fanned. Vizzini doubled to left with Horne and Dondero scoring. Boli walked before Miller threw out Eikenberg.

In the seventh Famiglietti doubled, Ackerman singled and Horne moved them up. Mouton walked intentionally to fill the bases. Kemp threw out Mouton at second as Famiglietti scored. Rossman's grounder hit third base for a single, Ackerman scoring. Vizzini bounced out to Pritchard. In the ninth Stuckert tripled and rode home on Dorsey's infield out.

TIGER TAMERS—Chicago Ben Rossman, star pitcher, and Brooklyn Johnny Vizzini, star rookie first sacker, helped put the Butler Tigers in "deep freeze" last night at Butler 12-3, Rossman allowing but seven hits, Vizzini getting two doubles and a single and driving in four runs, while scoring three times himself. Tonight the series all even, resumes at Flaherty Field at 8 o'clock.

Liposky went the route for the locals to receive credit for the win. Pillifant went all the way for the losers. Home runs by R. Blair and G. Blair accounted for two of the three Sharon runs. Kendra's triple in the fifth inning drove in three of the Eagle runs.

DeCarbo Enter Finals In Warren Tourney

DeCarbo's handed Jones-Monaca of Sharon their first defeat in the Warren, Ohio, double elimination tournament, last night. Score was 4 to 1.

Tony Tuscano got his third win in tournament play out of three starts, allowing the losers but 4 hits. DeCarbo only got five hits off of "Bucky" Harris, but they made them count.

The Bombers got all of their runs in the fifth inning with Richards starting it with a single. Bullano got on an error, and then Sam Mooney hit a long home run to score behind Bullano and Richards. Pace then singled, and Conti hit a long single to score Pace for the fourth run of the inning.

The Bombers will play the winners of Salem Bliss and Farrell 1229 in the finals on Sunday night at 7.

Local Rifle Club To Elect Officers

Friday evening, September 8, the New Castle Rifle club will hold its annual meeting and election of officers at the home of the club secretary, Paul Carrigan, 716 Countyline street, at 8 o'clock.

All members are asked to attend, as plans for the coming gallery season will be discussed.

Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians was the first American league pitcher to beat every rival team this season.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

WHEN THE WHISTLE BLOWS at Taggart stadium Friday night it will be the beginning of the twenty-ninth consecutive season for Phil Bridenbaugh as head coach of the Red and Black. And during that time Ne-Ca-Hi has won seven WPIAL championships, which is more than any other school in the league has won.

Under Bridenbaugh's tutelage, New Castle won its first title in 1924, before the WPIAL had different classes. When Class AA was instituted in 1932, Ne-Ca-Hi shared that honor with McKeesport and Jeannette.

New Castle came through to win the 1933 and 1934 championships, which made it three in a row to tie Wilkinsburg who was champion in 1914-1916, inclusive.

From 1934 to 1942, New Castle went without a title but in '42, the Red and Black captured the title again, came through again in 1948, beating Monongahela City in the play-off, and edged out McKeesport in 1949.

Under Bridenbaugh's direction, New Castle has had 11 undefeated teams, six which lost only one game, and six that lost only a pair of games. During his regime, Ne-Ca-Hi has won 243 games, lost 45, tied 18. Its squads amassed 6199 points while opponents collected 1300.

Bridenbaugh came here from a coaching berth at Geneva in 1922. Since he took hold he, and his assistants, have developed a multitude of stars who have won fame on college elevens.

THREE FORMER NE-CA-HI STARS are candidates for Geneva's football machine. They are veterans from last year's Gold and White eleven. They are Herb Stewart, Archie Zarone and Mastapha Hassen. . . . Mary Beth Spear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spear, New Wilmington, won a blue ribbon riding "Johnny" in the Pony class of the Mercer Fair show. . . . Several years ago the district possessed several punchers who aspired to fistic prominence but fell short of the goal. They were Russell Baxter, Jack Biddle, Billy Pozza, Frankie Moran and Elkins Brothers. Baxter is in an industrial plant. Biddle is working in California. Pozza is employed at Ellwood City. Moran says he will resume boxing this winter. Brothers is fighting out of the nation's capital. . . . Jack Young, the old-time lightweight, who would fight anybody, at any time, and who sometimes gave away weight, says he was not impressed by Brothers showing here recently. . . . Jim Hodge, the Harlansburg outdoorsman, says that "in the olden days, when one wanted to keep robins out of a cherry tree, they put the tail of a fox in a tree and this did the trick." . . . After watching Ne-Ca-Hi train; Charles Moser, one of The News sports staff, isn't too optimistic at this time over the Red and Black's reserve strength. As yet the first team line is untested. There are only two veterans on the line. The backfield is good, he believes, three out of the four being veterans. Bob Jackson, another of The News grid game writers, believes the team has potentialities.

Favor Saddler To Defeat Pep

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 — Sandy Saddler, who says Featherweight Champ Willie Pep tried to choke him last time they fought, was favored at 2 to 1 today to regain the title from Hartford Willie in their 15-rounder at Yankee stadium tomorrow night.

Pep's latest opinion on the matter is that the odds are incorrect and that, to be accurate, it was Saddler who tried to choke him.

Opinion Differ

These and other divergent opinions on the part of the principals have nothing on boxing fans at large, who are expected to trek to the stadium in record number to watch a canny, gory and extremely close fight.

Expert opinion on who will win is wholly divided, and not all of it can be accepted at face value.

Joe Louis, for instance, weighed in yesterday with the thought that Pep will win, and added that Willie is, indeed, every inch the fighter that Ray Robinson is. This judgment probably had a worse effect on Robinson than anyone else.

Dr. Womer Has Interesting Experiences In Europe

Dou you know of anyone who travels over three thousand miles, tries to buy souvenirs of a country, and finds articles to be "thoroughly American" in design? This was the case when Dr. W. A. Womer, City Health Superintendent, visited several countries in Europe on a recent trip.

The local well-known doctor was one of four representatives from the United States to attend the International Conference on Alcohol and Traffic held in Stockholm, Sweden, August 29, 30, and 31. The others included a professor from Yale, a professor from Indianapolis University, and a representative from the Indiana State Police.

Dr. Womer, accompanied by his two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Leonard, Hartford, Conn., and Mrs. Mary Lou Barnes of Meadville, flew from New York to London, England on August 12. Enroute to Stockholm the trio visited the towns of Brussels, Copenhagan, and toured Amsterdam.

Look Country Over

Arriving at the Stockholm hotel five days too early, Dr. Womer and his daughters were taken to an old farmhouse for lodging. They decided they would see what was of interest in the country before the conference began, and asked for accommodations in town. The woman in charge of registrations stated that there were no vacancies. Upon learning that the group were Americans and had American cigarettes she quickly gave Dr. Womer and the women a small apartment of rooms for a mere six dollars a day.

The conference opened with one hundred sixty delegates from twenty-two different countries attending the sessions. Discussions were held on the problems of the abuse of alcohol in connection with driving. Dr. Womer noted that the United States seemed to be the only country to have alcoholic examinations of air pilots. The U. S. uses both the blood and breath tests to determine if a person under the influence of alcohol, but other countries have been using only the blood tests.

Mayor Gives Banquet

The mayor of Stockholm gave a banquet for the delegates and treated the guests "like kings." The governor of Sweden, representing the king, and the representative from Finland were present for the occasion. The delegates came into the dining room and took their places near the end of the long table, knowing that the dignitaries would be seated in the honored places. However, the governor himself escorted Dr. Womer and his party to seats at the head of the banquet table. This incident was an excellent example of the humility of the people in the country. People from the other countries were found to possess the same characteristic.

Dr. Womer and his daughters left Oslo, Norway, Monday evening, at nine o'clock, and were arriving in Yougstown, Ohio, Tuesday, at 5:30 p.m.—over three thousand miles in less than twenty-four hours!

Home-Coming At Homewood Church

Homewood Methodists will observe their yearly home-coming Sunday with appropriate services. The church is located at Racine. A special program will be given at 2 p. m. when old friendships will be renewed and new ones formed.

Gifts will be given to the oldest person, the youngest one and the individual attending from the greatest distance.

This is the 12th conference year of Rev. William R. Wigton as pastor of the church. Bible school will be conducted at 1 p. m.

By this time next year there will have been a great change in the highway near the church, as the Pennsylvania turnpike that will be 200 feet wide, will be within 103 feet from the front entrance of the building. Plans are being made to move 25 of the houses in that vicinity.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The customers of "Try and Stop Me" always write! Monroe Bush Jr., of Leesburg, Va., for instance, overheard a parishioner remark tartly, "If that gossip would tend more to her knitting she wouldn't get so tangled in her yarns."

David Kritchevsky, from Zurich Switzerland, cables, "Recently one of my Swiss co-workers, ascertaining that I was an American, asked me if I played chess. I told him I was a poor player, but if he had a chess set I'd be glad to let him beat me. 'No, no, you don't understand,' he answered excitedly. 'I mean hot chess. Benny Goodman and Duke Ellington'!"...Ted Davis is grieving because the Indian Walk Shoe company won't touch his slogan, "The Last of the Mohicans." "They wont' even give me a pair of shoe-strings for trying," he says. N. Sulzberger writes about a surgeon whose patients were so scarce he opened a tailor shop. "It was dangerous to go for a fitting, however," recalls Mr. S.. "Old Doc Billhouse found it easier to operate on the customer than adjust the suit.'

ON THE MARCH

The large flights of nighthawks seen over much of the city during the last ten days or so are the vanguards of the general exodus of birds which will get underway in earnest in another week or two.

Singularly, the nighthawk is the land bird with the longest migration route, nesting as far north as the Yukon and wintering some 8,000 miles away in Argentina. And while on the subject of this interesting birds, it may be mentioned that the nighthawk is not a hawk. It is really a Nightjar or goat-sucker, closely related to the whip-poor-will which it resembles. It is a prodigious eater of insects destroying vast quantities of many harmful forms.

The migration or seasonal movement of birds is generally associated with the fall and spring. However, some birds leave their nesting grounds for their homes in the southland as early as July. Obviously, the urge to move is not always associated with the food supply since there is a profligate supply of the very finest kind of food when the bobolinks wing off. In all probability it is the nature of the bird, perhaps, a propensity for travel as witnessed in many other creatures.

Number Of Theories

There are a number of theories accounting for the migration of birds, particularly of the spring exodus northward, the most tenantable being the one of photoperiodism. Study the word for a moment and you will note that it indicates periods of light, the lengthening days with their subsequent increasse of light affecting the glandular chemistry of the birds. It may be said that it is an intensified feeling of what a young man's (and woman's, too) fancy is supposed to turn to in the spring. This purely individual manifestation is undoubtedly affected by local conditions with which the birds may come in contact. For example, if waterfowl find an abundant supply of open water together with an adequate and convenient quantity of food, they will forego the long trip southward fraught as it is with its many dangers. Last year thousands of geese and ducks spent the winter at both the bay in Erie and in the Pymatuning. On the other hand for some unknown reason most of the whistling swans pushed on to their winter homes despite the fact that they had access to the same facilities. However, couldn't it be said that the swans moved on because they so preferred? Can't birds have the same inclinations for travel as humans? Why cloak this business of migration with a lot of hocus pocus?

Go Above Arctic Circle

The golden plover, the arctic tern and a host of shore-birds such as yellowlegs, some sandpipers, and turnstones, spend the nesting season above the Arctic Circle, some of them as far north as they can find land upon which to build their nests. In the winter they are found haunting the open water of the Ross sea bordering the continent of Antarctica. Obviously, they don't go south to escape cold weather.

However, regardless of whichever theory you may favor, the birds are on the march. Soon the familiar backyard robin will wing off for his home in the Gulf states. His relatives which nested farther north, say, in the Canadian provinces, in all likelihood may appear here in the middle of the winter and inspire those stories about an early spring. Anyway we who live in perennial hope like to think of the visitors from the north as our summer friends from the south here again to herald another spring.

Dr. Robert French, Butler; Rev. Cary Weisiger and Dr. J. Calvin Reid, Pittsburgh, were among the prominent speakers.

A tasty luncheon at noon and a delicious dinner in the evening were served by members of the Mary Jane Missionary society of East Brook U.P. church.

HOME ECONOMISTS REVEAL SOME SECRETS OF SUCCESSFUL CANNING

No doubt you judge the success of your canning efforts by the keeping qualities of the foods you put up, but others rate your home-canned foods highly if they are attractive in color and garden-fresh in flavor.

Home economists say that one way to preserve color and flavor in home-canned foods is to use a salt that brings out full food flavor. IVORY SALT is known as the "salt that provides cooking insurance." Its crystals are uniform in size, and of the quality that 9 out of 10 recipes call for. Get best results when you can by selecting foods carefully, and by using IVORY SALT. At your grocer's in the package with the Ivory Elephant. Adv.
